UPPAL, HYDERABAD-500039

The Department of English and Modern Language organized a guest lecture in collaboration with Patna Women's College, Bihar, on 5 August, 2023 from 12:10 p.m. to 01:30 p.m. Students of UG and PG from both colleges were connected through the online platform Google Meet. The guest speaker was Dr. Usha Mudiganti, Assistant Professor, Department of English, Dr. B.R. Ambedkar University, New Delhi. The topic of the lecture was 'Femininity and Play in Two Contemporary Bollywood Movies'. Dr. Usha selected two Bollywood movies, 'Kuch Kuch Hota Hai (1998)' and 'Tanu Weds Manu (2011)'. The purpose of this event was to analyse how femininity is depicted in cinema. She mentioned that femininity has been constructed, reconstructed, and revived in many ways throughout the history of cinema. She further added that femininity could be articulated and expressed in many ways, and the ideals of femininity are frequently projected and circulated through the media, whether consciously or unconsciously.
