2. MOU

Name of the Program	:	Guest Lecture-Femininity and Play in two Contemporary Bollywood Movies
Date	:	05 August, 2023
Venue	:	Montfort Hall (Google Meet)
Resource Person	:	Dr. Usha Mudiganti, Asst. Prof. English Dept., Dr. B.R. Ambedkar, University, New Delhi
Number of Participants	:	184

The Faculty of English and Modern Language collaborated with Patna Women's College, Bihar, for a guest lecture on August 5, 2023, featuring Dr. Usha Mudiganti from Dr. B.R. Ambedkar University, New Delhi. The topic, "Femininity and Play in Contemporary Bollywood Movies," explored how femininity is depicted in cinema, focusing on 'Kuch Kuch Hota Hai (1998)' and 'Tanu Weds Manu (2011).' Dr. Usha emphasized the construction of femininity in cinematic history and its influence on societal ideals. Drawing parallels with public figures like Naomi Osaka, she highlighted the impact of media on perceptions of femininity.

Starting with a prayer and introductions, Dr. Usha discussed her personal journey and the importance of analysing popular cultural texts. Literary references, including 'Barbie-Q' and Johan Huizinga's 'Homo Ludens,' underscored the role of play in cultural expression. Through movie clips from 'Tanu Weds Manu,' Dr. Usha analysed the portrayal of femininity, contrasting Tanu's character with the athletic Kusum. Similar themes were explored in 'Kuch Kuch Hota Hai,' particularly Anjali's character evolution and societal expectations.

The session concluded with reflections on embracing femininity for oneself and critiquing the portrayal of women in cinema. Participants engaged in discussions on gender norms and media influence, gaining insights into the complexities of femininity portrayal in Bollywood. Expressing gratitude, Ms. Lakshmi and Dr. Sahar thanked the attendees, with feedback collected for further improvement. Participants received participation certificates upon completing the feedback process.
